

Khepri Press announces the publication of
The Emerald Tablet
by Brian Cotnoir.

The Emerald Tablet can be considered one of the root texts of alchemy, a brief alchemical work attributed to Hermes Trismegistus; it describes the cyclic flow of creation – all creation regardless of the scale or time of the composition. It attests to the truth of unity and the act of creation.

This publication is a collection of new translations of the earliest extant Arabic and Latin versions with accompanying essay and commentary.

The Latin text is a 12th century translation of the 9th century Arabic text, and they are presented side-by-side with their respective English translations. The accordion book format has the texts and translations on one side, allowing for comparison readings of The Emerald Tablet. On the reverse side is the commentary and brief analysis by Brian Cotnoir.

Brian Cotnoir, author of Alchemy: A Weiser's Concise Guide, is an independent scholar, researcher, and artist who has written on alchemy and presented seminars and workshops around the world on various aspects of the art.

إِنَّ الْأَعْلَىٰ مِنَ الْأَسْفَلِ وَالْأَسْفَلُ مِنَ الْأَعْلَىٰ

The Emerald Tablet is not only a fresh contribution to alchemical studies it is also an example of book art at its finest.

Drawing on the elements of Islamic and Western sacred geometry in their design, the two cover emblems visually indicate the Arabic side and the Latin side of the book. The overall design and typesetting follow from these same geometries.

Designed by Brian Cotnoir. Typeset by Lara Captan – English and Latin in Seria & Seria Sans by Martin Majoor; the Arabic in DecoType Naskh by Thomas Milo & Mirjam Somers.
